Mitchell landed a good body blow. Honors were easy in the first round.

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 25.

ROUND 1, -- As far as hitting is concerned Corbett clearly has the best of it at the opening, as he gets in four good blows to Mitchell's three. It is evidently Mitchell's intention to make as long a fight as possible. His clinching shows that, but by the way Corbett starts in it looks to me as though the fight would not last long. Corbett scens to be a winner. From what I know of the men I don't see how he can fail.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN.

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 25. -[Associated Press Bulletin.] -- Second Round, -- A wild exchange and a clinch. Corbett upper-cut his man as they came together.

Mitchell landed hard on the ribs, and as Mitchell came in Corbett caught him on the head, staggering him. Corbett upper-cut Mitchell again and landed with his right on Mitchell's ribs. Mitchell reached Corbett's chin.

A sharp rally followed, with Corbett having the best of it. Mitchell got in twice on Corbett's neck.

Corbett knocked Mitchell down twice.

Corbett floored his man cleanly, knocking him down again as he essayed to rise.

The gong saved Mitchell.

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 25.

Rown 2.—Corbett seems to be having things his own way. Fighting like this means short work, and Jim ought to win quickly. Mitchell will be knocked out in four rounds at this rate. Corbett's favorite tactics seem to be to aim hammering away desperately—doing what I had never attempted to do in any of New York end are about represented by for the head and vary it with a body blow. That is the way he fought me. He struck for my head, and about every my previous fights—to knock my man out in a hurry. third blow would lead with his left for my stomach. His blow on Muchell's head may not be painful. If it landed on top it did not burt any. Corbett is going right in to finish the Englishman up quick. JOHN L. SULLIVAN.

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 25, -[Associated Press Bulletin.]-Timo Round-Mitchell was rather groggy. Corbett rushed at him, hitting right and left heavily on Mitchell's neck.

Mitchell recled and fell on his face helpless. Mitchell was knocked out.

The referee declared Corbett the winner of the match and champion of the world, Mitchell's face was covered with blood.

The time of the fight was nine minutes.

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 25.

Rocko 3 .- So it's a clean knockout! I guess Corbett knew he had Mitchell in his power from the very first. His mode of fighting shows that. I thought at the beginning that Corbett was not afraid, and went right at his man to do him up. If hadn't done that Mitchell would have brought some of his fine tactics and dodges to work that would have prolonged the fight until Corbett might become exhausted. Put after the first round Charlie had no show at all for was almost helpless. any of his time work. Whenever he tried to clinch I suppose Corbett threw him away and went after him. The final blow on the nose must have been a swing. Such a blow is twice as strong as a straight one and has much greater effect. manly, straightforward way. A hard blow there will almost always occurred before we met here, and I wish him only prosperity for the future. In knock a man unconscious. Corbett must have improved much in his righting recently. His blows seem to be hard and his battle to-day he was a game and honest fighter. backed with great power. When we fought in New Orleans his blows did not fourt me. Exhausted nature caused my defeat. But in this fight there was enmity between the two nach. Their an mostly made them more sayage.

Corbett was determined to whip his man and had every confidence in his ability to do it. He was not the least afraid of Mitchell, and that and confidence are two great points. Little can usually be judged by a first round, but I could not help being impressed with the way Corbett opened that he meant business from the start. He had three great physical points in his favor, height, reach and age. These proved of wonderful advantage over Mitchell. I expected Corbett to win, but he did it in surprisingly quick time. There were no chance blows. It was a clear demonstration of Secret Service Detectives Capture
